NEGROES INDORSE HADLEY FOR U. S. SENATE

State Republican League in Convention at Sedalia also Indorses Judge Lamb for Governor, Educational and Sociological Subjects Discussed by Noted Men. Eloquent Speeches Delivered by Greatest Orators in the State.

Sedalia, Mo., October 19.—The State Negro Republican League in session here for two days, has been a remarkable gathering of leading professional, educational, sociological, theological, commercial and political men in the state. Subjects of vital interest to everyone were discussed and many recommendations were made and resolutions drafted. The condition of Lincoln Institute was thoroughly investigated and it was resolved to demand that it be made a state university.

Referring to Lincoln Institute it was shown that the Negroes were not getting their share of the collateral inheritance tax, nor their portion of the United States agricultural fund and chairs, which the government provides. The academic standard of the school is so low that so-called graduates cannot pass the examinations provided by county and state authorities.

The deplorable condition of Negro schools in the state, particularly in the rural districts, was presented by several experienced teachers who have suffered the humiliating conditions.

The League also voted to request a Negro assistant superintendent of Missouri schools; to make an effort to have Negroes appointed on the various juries; to demand a delegate at large to the National Republican Convention and to use every effort to reduce the criminal statutes of the Negroes in the courts. Honorable J. Babcock, mayor of Sedalia, welcomed the delegates and was responded to by Attorney W. C. Hueston, of Kansas City. Music was furnished by Prof. Andra's band of boys. At the close of the meeting, Tuesday night, the League indorsed Herbert S. Hadley for Senator and Judge Henry Lamb for governor. The meetings were held in the council chamber of the city hall and a packed house attended the closing meeting. The following St. Louisians were present. Reverends Abbott, Smith, Carter, Davis and Mosley; Doctors Caston and S. T. Phillips; Attorneys Vaughn and Phillips; W. H. Fields, Chas. Turpin, Jos. P. Harris, J. H. Jones, J. H. Fluis, Lester Taylor, Edw. Staten, Wendall Gross, Clarence Flemming, D. W. Green, W. H. Banks, Wm. Mathews, Capt. Tandy and Herbert T. Meadows representing the Argus. Among the prominent delegates from other cities were Prof. J. Silas Harris and W. C. Hueston of Kansas City, Prof. Williams, of Boonville, Rufus Logan and Prof. Washington, of Columbia. The important questions discussed brought forth much brilliant oratory. Especially noteworthy were the speeches of Caston, Phillips, Mathews and Vaughn, of St. Louis; Hueston and Harris, of Kansas City and Washington, of Columbia. The following officials were elected: President, Prof. J. Silas Harris; Vice-Pres., George L. Vaughn; Secretary, P. C. Gibbons; Treasurer, Dr. J. T. Caston; Chaplin, Rev. S. A. Mosley; Chairman Executive Committee, Homer G. Phillips; Sergeant-at-Arms, Jas. Ellis; Chairman Publicity Committee, Herbert T. Meadows. St. Louisians appointed on committees were:

Resolutions: Homer G. Phillips and Dr. Caston; Credentials: George L. Vaughn; Order of Business, E. R. Staten; Rules and Regulations, Capt. Tandy.

REV. A. W. ROSS

Pastor Calvary Baptist Church, Fulton, Mo.

Last Thursday night, October 14, Rev. A. W. Ross preached the missionary sermon at the State Baptist Convention in this city. Enthusiasm ran high among the large audience while Rev. Ross spoke from the text, "He Went a Little Farther." His discourse was full of logic and reason.

He showed how hundreds of people in all walks of life fail because they did not go a little farther. In his closing remarks, Rev. Ross said, "Almost is nothing if you cannot make the last step. Almost is but to fail, almost cannot avail. Sad, sad, that bitter wail, almost, but lost."

Before he went into the ministry Mr. Ross was a resident of this city. He was an active worker in the Y. M. C. A. and had a host of friends among the younger set.

Mothers' Congress

The Mothers' Congress, Parent, Teacher and Child Welfare Association is looking forward to a splendid meeting at its first quarterly session, wherein all of the Parent-Teacher Association will be federated into one great organization.

The extension committee under the leadership of Mrs. Henrietta Jones and Mrs. Rosa Dyson, is doing splendid work in getting the churches and schools of St. Louis and county aroused to the need of such an organization.

The many departments of the work will be taken up from time to time, just as fast as we are able to do so.

The Cradle Roll Department, under the leadership of Mrs. Mattie Tyler, as president, is destined to bring together hundreds of St. Louis babies, and we hope by the splendid literature to be used in this department, and the studies taken up by the mothers, that it will be of untold benefit to the city.

It is a cherished hope of our state president, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, that a network of clubs will be formed all over the state, by April, as we have a cordial invitation to meet in conjunction with the White Parent-Teacher Association which meets in Columbia at that time.

We were pleased to hear, during the splendid meetings held in our city last week, that several of the towns throughout the state have Parent-Teacher Clubs, and some have two or three.

We are glad to announce that we are given the co-operation of the ministers and representative laymen from all over the state, and we are looking forward to making this one of the strongest, if not the strongest organization of the kind in the state.

We ask the co-operation of all lovers of humanity and those who are for the betterment of the home and the uplift of the child.

Next Wednesday our meeting will be at the Providence Baptist Church, corner Pendleton and Kennerly Aves. Mrs. E. J. Smith, state pres., Mrs. Viola Winston, local president, Mrs. M. E. Malone, local secretary, Mrs. Shaw, assistant secretary, Mrs. Henrietta Jones, treasurer.

The Board elected by acclamation Edward S. Williams, President; J. W. Myers, First Vice-President; W. A. Giles, Second Vice-President; Joseph L. Velar, Treasurer, and Hutchins Inge, Secretary, for the ensuing year.

The hospital is expecting great things from this rejuvenation and hopes that the public will give its hearty support towards its maintenance.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course, the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 24

ELISHA'S HEAVENLY DEFENDERS.

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 6:8-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—The angel of Jehovah encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them.—Ps. 34:7.

A map is useful in teaching this lesson. The events occurred during the revolution which resulted in the extermination of Jezebel and her brood. Dothan, a small walled town, was about ten miles north and slightly east of Samaria, the capital of Israel, and in history is connected with Joseph (Gen. 37). Damascus was the capital of Syria.

I. Danger, vv. 8-13. Jehoram, king of Israel, cleaved to the sins of Jeroboam and of Ahab, his father. In Judah, Jehoram, the son of Jehoshaphat, married Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel. General Jehu famous for his driving, was soon to become king of Israel. The king of Assyria, being otherwise engaged, allowed Syria, the constant enemy of Israel, to make a fresh attack unhindered (v. 8). Elisha, the patriot, the "man of God," proves to be Israel's real safety. Elisha has not left us great revelations like Isaiah and other prophets, but he knew from day to day God's will, and he has power with him so that he could warn his people of impending danger. He had what the king and the people both lacked, a vision of God. He saw the needs and dangers, but also the resources at his command. Thus he delivered Isreal many times (v. 10) We, too, are thus frequently delivered, let us praise God. The underying reason for Israel's danger was its neglect of the word of God, and the same can be said as explaining the defeat of the Syrians. True patriotism combines vision and warning. The king of Syria, like countless other despots, knew not friend from foe, but evidently he had one retainer who told him the truth (v. 12). Some have suggested that this was Naaman; perhaps it was a captive Israelite. In either case it suggests God's knowledge of us. (See Ps 139:1-10.)

II. Defense, vv. 14-18. It was not a mere guerrilla detachment sent to Dothan to capture Elisha before making the main attack upon Samaria, but a well-officered army. Elisha meant more to them than did the king of Israel. The servant of Elisha had risen early and saw only the hills surrounding Dothan, upon which was "a host with horses and chariots round about the city" (v. 15); and in consternation he exclaims: "Alas, my master, how shall we do?" Again we are impressed with the vision of Elisha and the lack of it on the servant's part. Elisha saw what the servant could not see; walking by faith he was not affrighted (John 14:1; Phil. 4: 6, 7; Isa. 12:2; Ps. 56:3). In response to Elisha's prayer the servant's eyes were opened, yet he was not one whit more safe than before (v. 17) It is a striking contrast here with the Elisha of chapter 2:10. It is a suggestion, of the Christian anointed by the Holy Spirit and that of the saved sinner before that experience. Our eyes need to be opened to see that "they that be with us are more than they that be with them" (v. 16).

III. Deliverance, vv. 19-23. In the first section we are taught the danger of a lack of vision. In the second section the emphasis is upon the need of a vision, whereas in this there is presented the use of a vision. To crystallize vision into experience is a difficult task for us all. Elisha prayed Jehovah, for whom he was acting, to smite the Syrians with blindness. This was not for vengeance, but (a) to teach the Syrians who the true God is (b), to lead Jehoram, the king, to go to Jehovah for help, and (c) to deliver the people from the raids of the Syrians. This word "blindness" (v. 18) conveys the idea of dazzling, visual bewilderment, hallucination and not of total loss of sight, thus making it easy for Elisha to lead them as he willed (v. 19). Mentally bewildered as a result of their physical ailment they failed to recognize the prophet. He did not deceive them, for they at last "found him" when he led them into Samaria and once more they could see. Within the walls of Samaria Elisha's prayer is again answered, their sight restored (v. 20) and they find themselves at the mercy of Israel's king. The older and wiser man Elisha, forbids the younger, the king, to use his advantage (vv. 21 22), but rather to heap coals of fire upon their heads by setting before them food (Rom. 12:. 20, 21); within his power, such acts could not be attributed to fear.

There are here presented three principal lessons.

(1) The foolishness of seeking to circumvent God or of thwarting his purposes.

(2) The protecting care God is constantly exercising over those who put their trust in him, and in his boundless resources.

(3) The lesson of making the right use of prayer and the answers which we receive, and to be magnanimous to our enemies.

God honored Elisha's prayer because Elisha acted according to God's word (I John 3.22; Prov. 28:9).

Goodness in a Dungeon

By REV. L. W. GOSNELL, Assistant to the Dean, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—He was there in the prison. But the Lord was with Joseph.—Gen. 39:20, 21.

Joseph's prison was made gloomy by physical discomfort; by the mystery of his suffering, although an innocent man; and by the fact that after his kindness to the chief butler the latter forgot him. Yet there was light in the prison and that in several directions.

Prisoners of the Lord.

To begin with, the text tells us that "the Lord was with Joseph." As we express it sometimes in singing one of our hymns:

Prisons would palaces prove
If Jesus would dwell with me there.

Paul was enabled to write the epistle to the Philippians with its keyword, "Rejoice," from the Roman prison. John Bunyan in his "den" at Bedford saw Immanuel's land and the Delectable mountains. Madam Guyon said the Lord had shut her up in prison like a bird, with nothing to do but sing.

Again, the Lord gave Joseph favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison (Gen. 39:21). The hearts of kings are in the hand of God and his afflicted people may be certain that God is not at a loss when he wishes to relieve them. Stories more fascinating than fiction could be written from the lives of Christians who have been given favor in the sight of the great ones of earth.

The Lord kept Joseph unselfish. Most of us would have felt justified in nursing our troubles, but this man had "a heart at leisure from itself, to soothe and sympathize." One morning Joseph noticed that his fellow prisoners, the butler and baker, looked sad. He immediately inquired the cause and proceeded to help them to the best of his ability. After all, the best way to bear one's burdens is to help bear the burdens of others. Moreover, although Joseph little realized it, his interest in these prisoners marked a crisis in his life; as a result of it he finally came to the throne of Egypt, but he was ready for the crisis only because he was daily caring for the interests of others. How little we know of the crises which every day will bring forth, and how we need to walk habitually so as to please God if we are to meet these crises adequately!

It is evident that the Lord preserved the faith of Joseph. We recall his own dreams when in his father's house, and the assurance they gave him that he would come to a place of elevation over his father and brethren; but here he was in the dungeon and he would have seemed justified had he lost faith in dreams. Yet that this was not the case is evident from his interpretation of the dreams of the butler and baker, and his confidence that God would bring them to pass. Psalm 105:19 (R. V.) tells us that "until the time that his word came to pass, the word of the Lord tried him."

The Lord kept Joseph unretaliating. When speaking with the chief butler he said, "I have done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon" (Gen. 40:15). Not a word does he utter concerning that wicked woman, Potiphar's wife, who had designed his ruin. How slow even Christians are to learn that they need do no unkind thing in order to fulfill the plans of God! "He shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light and thy judgment as the noonday."

Hoping in God.

Altogether, God was training Joseph to hope in himself alone and to obey him in any event. Doubtless his hopes of deliverance were high when the chief butler left the prison, yet two long years passed before deliverance came. By the grace of God Joseph was kept from growing rebellious, but persisted in the way of duty. When God finds a man who will plod on, delighting to do his will under all circumstances, he will quickly set him in a large place and put a scepter in his hand. Joseph was in training for a throne and so are all true followers of Christ.

What a misfortune if the chief butler had remembered Joseph according to his promise! Joseph might have been delivered from the prison and sent away a free man out of the land, but scarcely more than this. How his story encourages us to trust and not be afraid!

The Christian's Easy Chair.

An aged Christian woman living in deep poverty was asked how she bore her troubles. She said when they became especially heavy she sat in her easy chair and rocked them away. The visitor looked about for this wonderful chair, but saw no trace of it, until finally the happy saint explained that it was Romans 8:28, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

OUT OF TOWN NEWS.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.

Mr. Charles Stewart addressed a large audience of men at the St. Paul Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon. His talk was about boys and young men. He gave the men some valuable suggestions about teaching the boys the things they really should know. At St. Luke A. M. E. Church he addressed a large audience. Here he confined his address about girls. Mr. Stewart is a forceful speaker and it is hoped that his excellent advice will be heeded by the fathers and mothers of East St. Louis.

Things are on the hum around Lincoln High School. The game with Sumner is at hand and everyone is preparing to attend and give Lincoln all the support that human voices can. The team is working overtime perfecting plays and getting ready to give Sumner the battle of her life. All who attended the game last year between Sumner and Lincoln Alumni will recall what an excellent team that was. The present Lincoln team has the Alumni beat all around. Watch out, Sumner.

The public night school has opened at 19th and Bond Ave., and there is plenty of accommodations for all who wish to attend. The teacher, Prof. Lucas, says that the outlook is promising, but that he would like to see a little more interest displayed and a larger attendance.

WHO PAYS?

We are called upon just now by an ordinance to expend nearly $100,000 to place upon the statute books a law to humiliate and degrade a class of citizens of this city. Who pays?

What will be the ultimate cost? It is far beyond a conservative estimate just here.

Not long ago a clique of the same kind, who are agitating segregation, were active in having passed a bill known as the "Full Crew Law." Primarily the aim was to take the jobs from hundreds of Negroes in this state. The vote of the people on the referendum defeated such a law. Think of the thousands, yes, tens of thousands of dollars it cost. Who pays?

The Pullman Company was compelled to furnish a whole car for one lone colored girl from Ohio to Atlanta, Ga., a few weeks ago on account of Jim Crow laws that had been placed upon the statute books of several southern states to humiliate and keep down the Negro. Who pays?

It was stated that a man who led a mob of lynchers in a Texas town a few months ago, died recently of a stricken conscience and remorse of soul. History repeats itself. The strong and indifferent should wake up. You say that only a few are agitators of this un-American doctrine; but, who pays?

Yes, a few states determined on the purpose of keeping the Negro in bondage, caused the great civil war; before, and during which time the Negro suffered untold cruelties. But when one thinks of the loss of lives and property and the great scourge that the south suffered, the question comes home to us all, who pays?

The immortal Abraham Lincoln saw the cost, when, before the war he urged the people to accept so much money for each slave, a small amount compared with the final cost. The deaf heard not.

In his second inaugural address Mr. Lincoln said: "Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this dread scourge of war shall speedily pass away, but if it should continue until all of the wealth that has been piled up by 244 years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood that has been drawn by the lash shall be paid for by one drawn by the sword, then must we say with the Psalmist that the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

The cost was great. Who paid?

THE NEGRO LEADING.

The State Negro Republican League, which held its meeting at Sedalia. Mo., early this week, touched some of the livest questions of the day; and, in the main, they all affect the Negro vitally. When the convention declared for better school facilities for Negroes in Missouri, it found itself in hearty accord with those who think for the best interest of the race. Its stand for larger opportunity, for full participation in party affairs, its protest against the Negroes of the state paying a collateral inheritance tax for the support of Missouri state) University where no Negro can be admitted, as well as its protest against delay in opening the schools for incorrigible girls, stamp it a gathering of men of large calibre, earnest, and of keen insight.

There is abundant evidence that the rural schools in Missouri for Negroes are largely a joke from a standpoint of educational efficiency. In fact, they are a disgrace to the state. There is no place in the state where a Negro may be taught law, medicine dentistry, pharmacy, engineering, farming or mining at the state's expense, though the facilities for learning all these things and more are furnished to the white citizens of the state. The diverting of funds from the education of the Negro and taxing him for schools which he is not permitted to attend are outrages which must be stopped. One of the best ways to stop these outrages, as well as to obtain better facilities, is to put Negroes on school boards and in official position where they will be able to see to it that the needed improvements are made. One Negro on a school board, or in the legislature of Missouri or as assistant superintendent of schools could do more to righten conditions than a thousand on the outside. All these things were advocated.

The convention's protest against the exclusion of the Negro from party counsels is timely; likewise their endorsement of persons for official position in advance of white conventions and organizations. This time the Negro in Missouri is leading, not following.

According to reports, the convention was dominated by St. Louisans, what else could be expected of the St. Louisans who attended but this example of far-sighted, political sagacity and earnest interest in the race's welfare?

Better schools, liberally supported; Negro school officials and legislators; larger participation in party affairs; and the just distribution of educational funds, are things to be consumately desired. A platform embracing them and demanding party support for them and endorsing the best men in the party for the head of the ticket, is broad, progressive and strong enough for every Negro Republican in Missouri to stand on.

WITH THE GOOSEBERRY

RECIPES FOR PRESERVES AND OTHER DISHES.

Made Up Into Jam It Will Be Appreciated in the Winter—Method of Serving Them in Batter.

Gooseberry Jam.—Seven pounds green gooseberries, eight pounds sugar.

Method.—Top and tail the gooseberries and place them in a preserving pan. Add the sugar and slowly bring to boiling point and boil for 40 minutes. If the jam jellies quickly when a sample is placed on a saucer it is quite ready and must be bottled at once.

To Bottle Gooseberries.—Gather together some bottles with wide necks. See that they are perfectly clean and dry. Fill them with gooseberries and place in the oven until thoroughly hot through without breaking the skins. Remove from the oven, add two tablespoonfuls sugar to each bottle, and fill up with boiling water. Seal with paraffin and store.

Gooseberries in Batter.—Four tablespoonfuls flour, two eggs, pinch salt, half pint milk, half pint gooseberries, one tablespoonful sugar, ten ounces dripping or butter.

Method.—Prepare the batter by mixing the flour and salt with a little milk and the eggs beaten to a froth. Beat this thoroughly until smooth and the surface free of bubbles. Stir in gently the remainder of the milk. Heat the fat until smoking hot in a baking tin and pour in the batter and gooseberries. Bake in a hot oven for half to three-quarters of an hour. Cut into sections and sprinkle freely with pulverized sugar.

Gooseberry Souffle.—One pint stewed gooseberries, quarter pound sugar, two ounces butter, 1½ ounces flour, two teaspoonfuls corn flour, three eggs, one teacupful milk.

Method.—Prepare a sauce with the flour, corn flour, milk and butter. Stir in the gooseberry pulp and the yolks of eggs, also the sugar. Beat the whites to a stiff froth and fold these carefully into the mixture. Prepare a souffle mold by tying a greased paper round the top. Place the mixture in the tin and steam for an hour. Turn out very carefully and serve at once.

Gooseberry Jelly.—Seven pounds green gooseberries, two quarts water, one pound sugar to each pint liquid.

Method.—Crush the gooseberries with the rolling-pin or potato masher. Place these in a pan with the water and cook until soft and tender. Strain the mixture very carefully, without squeezing, through a coarse cloth. Add a pound of sugar to each pint of liquid and boil for half an hour to three-quarters.

Baked Pears.

Pare and core, without dividing, as many pears as you wish; place them in a pan and fill centers of pears with brown sugar. Add a little water and let them bake until perfectly tender. Serve with sweet cream or boiled custard.

An old-fashioned way is to place pears in a covered baking dish, without paring. Add one very small cupful of molasses to every two quarts of pears; but little water is necessary. Bake about two hours. If you wish, you may pare and core them, using one small cupful of sugar instead of molasses.

Ideal Soup Kettle.

One of the woeful aspects of soup-making in the pre-enamel-ware days was the cleansing of the heavy iron kettle; for washing a kettle big enough to hold a shinbone of beef with trimmings was no joke. Today, however, one can have the trim, enameled kettle in any size, light, yet strong, and all it needs is hot suds and a good rinsing to make it beautifully clean and sanitary. If, in addition, there is a colander of enamel ware for straining of the soup into a pan to match, the equipment is ideal for cleanliness, quickness and results.

Plums in Rice Border.

Cook the rice in milk until tender and quite dry, adding a pinch of salt when it is half done. Make it rather sweet with powdered sugar and pour into a border mold to set. When ready to serve, turn it out carefully and fill the center with very rich stewed plums, pour a little of the syrup over the rice and heap whipped cream over the plums. The stones should be removed from the fruit and the kernels simmered ten minutes in a little thin syrup and then mix with the fruit.

Prune Souffle.

Mash sufficient prunes to make one-half pint, press through a colander, add four tablespoonfuls sugar and stir in the well-beaten whites of four eggs. Turn into baking dish, dust with powdered sugar and bake in moderately quick oven ten minutes.

Lemon Cookies.

Cream one cupful of butter with two of sugar, add three beaten eggs and flavor with lemon juice. Sift into this enough flour to make the dough stiff enough to handle, roll thin, cut out and bake.

New Flavoring.

Several tablespoonfuls of peanut butter creamed with the shortening are delightful for giving a novel and delicious flavor to cookies or pastry cake.

WHAT SOME FOOLS THINK

One-third of the fools in this country think they can beat a lawyer expounding the laws. One-half think they can beat the doctor healing the sick. Two-thirds of them think they can put the minister in a hole expounding the gospel, and all of them think they can beat the editor running a paper

I AM FREE — YOU CAN BE FREE
My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It defiled my mind, and body and soul. It was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me disgusting to all, and to myself. Many times I tried to make even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My children's life was in danger. I was in despair. At last the time it would bring me to be entirely grave because every moment of my life my sight it was clearly put away. Dying my vitality. But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it—FREE.
RISK JUST ONE CENT
Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card. Say: "Dr. Ball, tell me how you cured your catarrh and how I can cure mine." That's all you need to say. I will tell you, and I will send to you with complete information FREE, at cost. Do not delay. Send the postal card today. Do it now. Do it right. Don't think of turning this page until you have asked for this wonderful treatment which is to cost you what it was done for me.

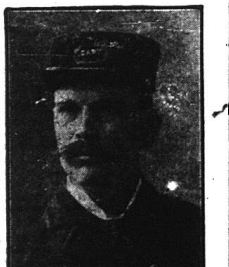
FIRE CAPTAIN'S STATEMENT


CAPT. F. M. HITE
Nashville Fire Department
NOMAN CHEMICAL CO., Nashville, Tenn.
Dear Sirs: Having taken your medicine with such good results, I wish to in form you what effect it had upon me. Several years ago my physicians treated me for indigestion and liver trouble, and was later told by them that an operation would be necessary. I took a great deal of medication, with no results. Then I began using Nuxated Iron, and after taking a few bottles I felt so much relieved as to lead a consultation, at which the symptoms of catarrh was then an operation would be the only relief for me. My mind was made up to have same performed, and had decided to go to an infirmary, but a friend heard of my intentions and advised me not to go to the expense, trouble and probably loss of life, when a cure could be effected by the use of your Nuxated. I took a bottle which sewed the greenish mass from my system including a number of gravies gall stones. Thanks heaven I took my friend's advice, and am now up and able to perform my duties.
Symptoms in my case were clouded brain, coated tongue, stagnation on rising in the morning, and gas on my stomach, and oftentimes had pains in my side and back.
I write this hoping it may reach some person who is suffering from stomach and liver trouble. As an employed by the Nashville Fire Department, and will always recommend your medicine.

EXCELLENT SHOW AT THE BOOKER WASHINGTON

Manager Turpin has supplied an excellent show for his Booker Washington patrons this week.

Archie Jones, in Jewish dialect, is scoring nicely in monologue jokes and songs. His work is smooth and effective.

Burns and Burns, in a comical dialogue replete with some novel imitations, eccentric dances and catchy songs, are well up to the standard.

Lucretia Knox, a very sweet singer, is admired in three numbers; "My Little Dream Girl," "There's a Little Spark of Love Still Burning," and "Isle D'Armour."

Griffin Sisters, as usual original, are going big in a dream specialty. This is introduced by the smoking of a brand of cigarettes. The high life resultant affords much amusement. The ladies always draw well here, being exponents of advanced vaudeville ideas.

FOOTBALL

Sumner High, Though Much Handicapped, Places a Great Machine in Field Today.—J. Lyle Caston

Sumner High School, though much handicapped by eligibility rules, is turning out one of the fastest machines in her history. Eligibility rules have barred such good men as Slater, J. Williams and Davenport, with many other new fellows that were showing up well.

The spirit of the boys cannot be surpassed. Everyone that was able at the beginning of the year came out and as many as fifty-three candidates were given suits. The team was rounding to form when the eligibility rules separated about twenty-four good men from us. Coach Giles went right ahead bringing forth new material and working hard with his old men. The injury to Arthur Greene, our sterling little quarterback, was also a bad break for us. Bobo, a last year's substitute, was placed in the position and is doing well. Hence captain Wesley and Coach Giles have patched up position after position and it will be no easy matter for any team to defeat old Sumner in the face of all this. (?)

Today's game with East St. Louis will be the test of the new team that Sumner has made of nothing but hard working boys with the school spirit throbbing in every pulse and heart-beat. Last year East St. Louis was the only team that held Sumner to a decent score, the "maroon and white" winning by the score of 7-0. This year, in order that he may repeat this victory, Coach Giles will probably send the following lineup against East St. Louis: Giles, L. E., Lancaster, L. T., Tankins or Lewis, L. G., Yaeger, Center, Hutchinson, R. T., Dickerson or Lawson, R. G., Caston, R. E. Backs, Wesley, Young Bobo, Williams, H., Thompson, McClusky, Walker, Greene and Paxton. Other members of the team that have shown up well and may have a chance are C. Williams, Foster, Scott, Curtis, Carr, Johnstone, Parr, Costello, J. Williams, Slater and many more.

The boys will win today and by the time Thanksgiving rolls around the greatest football machine in the middle west will trot upon the gridiron to bring home honors for Sumner.

George Thompson, who was injured last week was able to be out in his togs and work out again.

Thomas Giles has shown up exceedingly well during the past week and has almost beaten C. Williams for the left end position, left open by Davenport, being ineligible.

The absence of Greene and Davenport has left the mass of the kicking and open field work to the right end.

All loyal Sumnerites, come go with us.

ATTENTION!

Spanish War Veterans you are requested to attend an army mess given by Corporal Wm. L. White, Camp No. 10, U. S. W. V., on Tuesday, Nov. 9, 1915, 8 p. m., at A. U. K. and D. of A. PICK SEED CORN EARLY

1. Pick seed ears before October 1st, 1915.
2. Pick at least five times as much as needed.
3. Hang in dry, well-ventilated place.
4. Hang so ears will not touch each other.

CORN WORK FOR SCHOOLS.

The Schools Should Help in the Movement to Save the Seed Corn for Next Year.

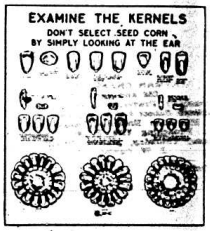
Do not assign lessons by bulletins and booklet. Teach by things, not words. Then we shall be teaching the boy and girl and not the subject.

Let the pupils go into the field and select what they consider good ears of corn. Now, look them over for strong and weak points.

They haven't been told what to look for? True—but let us not tell them: let us work it out together.

Shell off half the corn from two or three ears, keeping that from each ear by itself. Measure the amounts and compare them. Can you tell by looking at the half-shelled ears why one ear produces a larger amount of shelled corn than another ear of apparently the same size?

We must examine the kernels more closely. Some are too short, some taper too much, some are chaffy. Some will not drop evenly in the planter.



Ears should be of medium size, not too long nor too short. If they are too long they are likely to mature late; if they are too short, they will mature too early and will not produce as large a quantity of corn. Ears which are too large around are late maturing and are likely to have too much cob; white ears which are too slender will not yield a large amount of corn.

Now we know what sort of an ear is best for seed, but why should we select it so early and why gather it from the field? This is so we may select as seed, corn which matures early. In short seasons, when the frosts come late in the spring or early in the fall, a late maturing corn will not ripen for seed. We should have corn which we are sure will ripen before the frosts. You understand, of course, that if frost touches the corn before it ripens, the germ may be destroyed and this corn will not grow.

When it is late enough so that all the corn is ripened, we cannot tell which ears ripened early; so we will go into the field early and gather our corn, selecting that which is already matured.

Then we must know the type of stalk on which the ear grew.

Study bulletins and articles on selecting seed corn and let the schools lead the county in this movement vital to the country's corn crop next year.

The Agricultural Extension Department of The International Harvester Company issues a special school bulletin on selecting seed corn from the field which is sent for the asking.

POOR SEED MEANS A POOR STAND.

If Every Ear of Corn Intended for Planting Was Harvested at the Proper Time, and Properly Stored and Tested Before Planting, Millions of Dollars Would Be Added to the Value of the Corn Crop Every Year.

Corn growers should remember that poor seed is the chief cause of a poor stand, and that a poor stand means a small yield. It means missing hills, weak stalks producing little or nothing. It means less than 30 bushels per acre instead of 60. It means that we produce on an average, just one small ear of corn to each hill instead of two or three. It means wasted land and wasted labor.

BAD PLACES TO STORE SEED.

1. Stable over or near stock.
2. Over oats or corn.
3. Damp cellar.
4. Closed attic over kitchen.
5. Any damp, closed place.
6. Out in the sunshine.

What is "Show Corn?"

At a corn show one often hears the expression, "I have plenty of good seed corn, but I haven't any show corn." The best seed corn and the best show corn should be the same, and the object of the judge at a corn contest, and of a farmer selecting his seed to plant should be the same. In each case the most profitable ear is the one desired.

HOW TO SELECT SEED CORN

When Harvesting Seed Corn Choose Medium Sized Ears From Strong, Vigorous Stalks.

GATHER IT FROM THE FIELD

There Is Danger of Selecting Ears Too Large—If the Season Is Late and Cold or Frosts Come Early We Will Have a Lot of Soft, Chaffy, Moldy Light Corn From Which to Get Seed for Our Next Year's Crop.

By PROF. P. G. HOLDEN, Director Agricultural Department International Harvester Co. of New Jersey.

A good sized ear is essential to a good yield. It indicates that the ear comes from a strong, vigorous, healthy stalk and that in turn it will produce stalks and ears having a strong constitution and hardiness. No one would think of selecting for seed small, weak, puny-looking ears. Corn has been bred for the grain or ear until the proportion of corn to stalk is abnormally high and consequently the tendency is for the ear to become smaller unless we select larger ears than we expect in the average of the crop.

Select Medium Sized Ears.

On the other hand, the greater danger lies in selecting too large ears and too large types of corn, and this is especially true of the northern half of the corn belt. For every dollar lost by growing corn that is too small or too early there are ten to twenty dollars lost from growing corn that is too large and too late in maturing. If the season is late and cold, or the frosts come too early, or Mother Nature is plainly left to do the "drying" the ripening of a lot of soft, chaffy, moldy, light corn. In addition to this it is very difficult to secure good seed from such corn for next year's crop. It is certain to be more or less frozen, moldy and weak, and to result in a poor stand and a poor crop. Large, sappy, immature ears fill the wagon box rapidly and we deceive ourselves into thinking that we are getting a large yield. Corn of this kind often contains from 35 to 45 per cent of water. When the corn dries it is loose on the cob, chaffy and light. The little cells in the kernels are only partially filled with food and are dull and chalky, or starchy, instead of bright, hard, heavy and rich in appearance.

The corn is apt to spoil, especially in the bottom of the crib, i. e., burns out, and it is unpalatable to stock. The grower of such corn is required to sell at a greatly reduced price. What we want is corn that will be safe every year. Remember that two small ears weighing but ten ounces each, to each hill will make 64 bushels per acre, or double the average yield. Three of them will give nearly 100 bushels per acre.

This indicates full maturity, good quality, feeding value and yield.

Large ears will generally have larger and deeper kernels. Short, bunchy ears are certain to have deeper kernels than long, slim ears. As a consequence the planter cannot be adjusted to give a uniform drop.

If we have large and small ears, bunchy and slim ears, deep kerneled and shallow kerneled ears we shall not only have unevenness in size and shape of kernels, but we shall also have a great variation in time of maturity, some stalks nearing early and some late, and some having high ears and some low.

POOR SEED MEANS LOW YIELD.

One small eight-ounce ear of corn added to each hill will double the yield and value of the crop and add $1,700,000,000 to its total value.

CORN GROWERS' RULES.

1. Pick seed corn before October 1st, saving at least twice as much as will be needed.
2. Select only ears that will ripen and that are of good quality.
3. Select from strong, vigorous stalks, ears that bend over at medium height on medium length shanks.
4. Hang seed corn in a dry, well ventilated place, so that the ears do not touch.
5. Select seed corn from your own field.
6. If you must buy seed corn, buy in your own locality.
7. In the spring, select the best ears and test each ear.
8. Select 100 of the choicest of these ears and plant in a separate plot to select from next year.

Immature Corn Freezes.

Corn put into the crib in the fall in a sappy condition freezes and thaws repeatedly through the winter. In March and April when the weather warms up, it will be found that the hearts of the kernels have turned to a cheesy color and later become black and are stored in the tissue. In this last case I have reference not to soft, immature corn, but to what would be considered very good corn except that it is large and contains considerable water.
